

September Photo Competition

Karen Divine was the presenter and competition judge during the September meeting of the Flatirons Photo Club. The special topic was Night Photography. Among award winners were, clockwise from top, "Fireworks," by John Kieffer; "Golden Light," by Cal Whitehall; "Little Lights," by Chris Carruth; and "Canyon," by Mia Mesdagh.

FLATIRONS PHOTO CLUB

Wildlife, Nature Photographer Andy Long Featured at Flatirons Photo Club on Nov. 12

Andy Long, a professional wildlife and nature photographer based in Lakewood who has been doing photography for more than 35 years and owns First Light Photo Workshops (<http://www.firstlighttours.com>), will be the featured speaker and competition judge during the Flatirons Photo Club monthly meeting from 7-9 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, at Har HaShem Synagogue, 3950 West Baseline Road.

As a leader of workshops internationally since 1994, Andy likes to help people explore new areas and to go home with a memorable experience as well as great images in addition to having learned a good bit about photography. Andy tries to emphasize a unique eye in capturing images of the world and to pass this on to those who go on his workshops.

With more than 300,000 stock images, his work has appeared in more than 40 publications and books as well as in National Geographic and Animal Planet television shows. Among the places his work has appeared include Birder's World, Bugle, Outdoor Life, View (Germany), Colorado Outdoors, Alaska Magazine, Audubon field guides, National Wildlife Federation note cards, Texas Parks & Wildlife, regional AAA magazines, Montana Magazine, Montana Outdoors, Outdoor Photographer, Outdoor and Nature Photographer and in ads for Audubon and Rollei cameras.

He has been a winner in the Audubon Top 100 Images of the Year, Audubon Share the View contest (four images) and the Nature's Best Wilderness Forever Photo Competition and is a previous winner of the national RoseWater Network Photographer of the Year award. Andy's work is currently represented by the following stock agencies - Alamy, Imagefinders, AKM and PhotoAgora.

As a writer, articles appear in every issue of Nature Photographer magazine, of which he's an assistant editor and featured columnist. Many articles can be found at www.apogeephoto.com, where he has been a featured writer for 15 years. In addition to this work, he presented programs around the country as part of the Nature First Photography Seminars sponsored by Nature Photographer magazine. He also has been a featured speaker at the Colorado Photography Festival and the New England Camera Club Council Annual Conference.

Club Show Opens Nov. 17; BDA Offers Award

BDA Now Home for Study Group

Boulder Digital Arts (BDA), which is hosting the first annual Flatirons Photo Club members exhibit, is offering Flatirons Photo Club members a number of discounts and other benefits.

BDA (<http://www.boulderdigitalarts.com>) is an innovative training facility that offers classes and workshops on high-demand topics ranging from web development to photography to social media marketing. It is located at 1600 Range Street in Boulder, just east of Ball Aerospace on Arapahoe Avenue.

Danice Crawford, operations manager for BDA, has worked out a number of agreements with Flatirons Photo Club President Bruce Henderson, who is the volunteer curator for exhibits at BDA.

They include:

- Free hosting of the Photo-

FLATIRONS PHOTO CLUB EXHIBIT: The artwork of club member Maria Fuste is displayed on a classroom wall at Boulder Digital Arts.

graphic Frontiers Study Group meetings. The study group has been meeting the first Wednesday of the month in the old KBCO studios at Mike's Camera. However, that space has been rented. BDA has scheduled Photographic Frontiers Study Group meetings from 7-9 p.m. Wednesdays on Nov. 4, Dec. 2, Jan. 6 and Feb. 3. Meeting space may vary at BDA depending on BDA course schedules. Flatirons Photo Club officers have approved the new location arrangement.

- BDA is offering Flatirons Photo Club members 10% off any BDA lecture-style workshop and hands-on class through Oct. 21, 2016. Contact Bruce Henderson to obtain the discount code for registering for classes.

- The Flatirons Photo Club member's exhibit has now been hung at BDA and will remain up through the end of December. Club members in the show are: Steve O'Bryan, Fee Chin, Gail Dohrmann, Maria Fuste, Bruce Henderson, Daniel Joder, Illene Meyers, Jan Otto, Margie Robinson, Tricia Rubio, Vandy Vandervort, Thomas Walsh, Calving Whitehall, Cary Wolfson, GINGER Zukowski.

BDA will host an opening celebration from 5-8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 17. An Evite email invitation will be sent to club members who can forward the invitation to anyone. Evite is being used to track how many people will be attending so that catering can be arranged.

BDA is not taking any commission on sales of photos in the show. Credit card sales can be arranged through photo club president Bruce Henderson.

- BDA is offering one free workshop as a "Peoples Choice Award" during the Flatirons Photo Club opening event.